2015 Cook County Tax Rates Released

The 2015 property tax rates, calculated by the Cook County Clerk's office for the county's more than 1,400 taxing agencies were released today, the final step in the tax process before bills are mailed out.

The average City of Chicago residential taxpayer should expect to see a 12.8% increase in their tax bill while Suburban Cook County homeowners will see their property tax bills go up slightly. A tax bill is based on of the amount of money sought from taxing districts (the levy), the property's assessed value, the state equalization factor, and the applicable tax rate.

Tax bills will be due Monday, August 1, 2016.

The City of Chicago was reassessed in 2015, resulting in a 9.3% increase in equalized assessed value (EAV) citywide. While the City of Chicago increased their pension levy by $318 million this year, because of the reassessment the City tax rate increased less than 1 percent over 2014. Cook County is divided into 3 regions, each of which is reassessed by the Cook County Assessor every three years. The southern suburbs were reassessed in 2014 while the northern suburbs will be reassessed later this year.

	2014 Average Tax Rate¹	2015 Average Tax Rate¹	% Change	2014 Average Tax Bill²	2015 Average Tax Bill²	$ Change	% Change
Chicago	6.808%	6.867%	+0.9%	$3,220.32	$3,633.19	+$412.87	+12.8%
North Suburbs	10.231%	10.649%	+4.1%	$6,575.16	$6,685.55	+$110.39	+1.7%
South Suburbs	13.054%	13.662%	+4.7%	$4,885.07	$4,986.22	+$101.15	+2.1%

1. Average composite tax rates: Actual tax rates may vary within these areas.

2. Tax bills based on an average single-family residence (including condos) with market value of $224,500 in Chicago (reassessed from $199,250 in 2014), $261,500 in north suburbs, $163,000 in south suburbs.

Tax rates are calculated by dividing the amount of money each taxing agency or district has requested in their levy by the total taxable value within each district. A taxing agency or district is a body of government such as a school district, library, or municipality, which levies real estate taxes. The tax rates of all districts that service a particular property are added to create the composite tax rate applicable to each individual property.

The overall EAV in Cook County increased by 3.5 percent this year, largely due to the 9.3% increase in the City of Chicago. Taxable values in the northern and southern suburbs decreased by an average of 2.5%, primarily due to a reduction in the state equalization factor.

2015 Equalized Assessed Values (EAVs)

The equalization factor issued by the Illinois Department of Revenue (IDOR) has decreased 2 percent from 2.7253 last year to 2.6685 this year. To ensure uniform assessment state-wide, IDOR calculates the factor needed to bring the total assessed value of all properties in Cook County to a level equal to 33.3 percent of the total market value of all Cook County real estate.

For the first time, the total of all taxes extended for all taxing districts in Cook County exceeds $13 billion. Last year the total tax billed in Cook County was $12.4 billion. The City of Chicago’s extension exceeds $1 billion for the first time, a 34% increase over 2014. Last year the City’s extension was $774 million.

The Property Tax Extension Limitation Law (PTELL), also known as the “Tax Cap Law” limits the increase in revenue that districts may collect to the rate of inflation. In most cases, districts this year were limited to an increase equal to the 2015 Consumer Price Index (CPI) of 0.8 percent. Home rule districts, debt obligations, other special purpose funds, and value derived from new property and terminated Tax Increment Financing Districts (TIFs) are exempt from this limitation. Next year, the CPI will limit tax revenues to an increase of 0.7 percent, the second-lowest increase since the Tax Cap Law began over 20 years ago.

2015 Property Tax Frequently Asked Questions

(Glossary to follow)

Are my taxes going up?

Individual tax bills will vary, but property taxes are generally going up. How much they change primarily depends on whether you live in the City of Chicago or in the suburbs. For single family residential properties, on average:

- Chicago (average reassessed property) = 13% increase in property tax
- Suburbs (non-reassessed property) = 2% increase in property tax

Chicago:

The City of Chicago was reassessed in 2015, resulting in a 9.3% increase in taxable value (EAV). With the City and other taxing district levy increases this year, taxpayers can expect a 1% increase in the Chicago composite tax rate from 6.808% to 6.867%.

While the average single family residential property tax bill in Chicago increased approximately 13%, the average commercial/industrial property tax bill in Chicago increased approximately 10%.

Suburbs:

Most residential properties in the north and south suburbs saw no change in assessed value from last year to this year. Taxes for those properties may see an average property tax increase of 2% over last year. This is because tax rates went up in the suburbs an average of 4.5% while taxable values went down 2.5% overall. Taxes are going up primarily due to levy increases permitted under the tax cap law and property value added through new construction.

Note: Suburban tax rates and amounts vary widely due to the large number of municipalities, school districts, park districts and other taxing districts which provide different services at different levels of taxation. Specific areas will see larger or smaller tax increases, and some areas may see decreases.

How does the triennial assessment of property impact tax bills in Cook County?

Pursuant to state law, the Assessor reassesses property in one of three geographic regions in the County every three years (triennial assessment). In 2015, properties located in the City of Chicago were reassessed. In 2014, property in the south suburbs was subject to reassessment, while property in northern suburbs will be reassessed later this year. If property values increase due to reassessment, this impacts the tax rate.

Note: When assessed values increase and a levy remains static, the tax rate will decrease. A tax bill is always a product of the amount of money sought from taxing districts (the levy), the property's assessed value, the state equalization factor, and the applicable tax rate.

The state equalization factor issued by the Illinois Department of Revenue (IDOR) has decreased 2% from 2.7253 last year to 2.6685 this year. To ensure uniform assessment statewide, IDOR calculates the factor needed to bring the total assessed value of all properties in Cook County to a level equal to 33 1/3 percent of the total market value of all Cook County real estate.

Where are the highest tax rates in Cook County?

- Village of Ford Heights has the highest rate at 37.976%
- Village of Park Forest is 2nd highest at 36.834%
- City of Chicago Heights is 3rd highest at 33.726%

Where are the lowest tax rates in Cook County?

- City of Chicago has the lowest tax rate at 6.867%
- Village of Barrington is 2nd lowest at 7.384%
- Village of South Barrington is 3rd lowest at 7.530%

Does a high tax rate mean I'll have a high tax bill?

Not necessarily. There are several factors which impact an individual tax bill.

The tax rate itself is driven by the overall assessed value in a taxing district, the state-issued equalization factor, and the district's tax levy request. Individual tax bills are calculated by individual taxable property value and the composite tax rate (the combined rates of all taxing districts servicing that property.)

A property with a high tax rate but a low taxable value may result in a lower bill than a property with high taxable value and a low tax rate.

For example:

- A property with a Market Value of $100,000 multiplied by a rate of 20% would have a tax bill of $3,937
- A property with a Market Value of $400,000 multiplied by a rate of 7% would have a tax bill of $6,982

How does a Chicago tax bill compare to a suburban tax bill for similar properties?

The City of Chicago, with its large commercial and industrial value base, has the lowest tax rate in Cook County. The north suburbs have the second lowest rates, and the south suburbs, with a modest tax base, have the highest tax rates.

*On average, the 2015 property tax bill for a home with a market value of $200,000 would be:

- Chicago: $3,184.23
- North suburbs: $4,937.94
- South suburbs: $6,335.07

Because suburban property values and tax rates vary widely, the tax amounts in these regions also vary.*

How much of my Chicago tax increase is due to the pension levy increase?

Approximately 60% of the 2015 increase for the average residential tax bill in the City of Chicago is due to the increase in the City levy while the remainder is due to the typical, more moderate levy increases of other taxing districts.

*If the City's property tax levy had stayed flat this year, and only the other taxing districts had increased their levies, properties would have seen an average tax increase of about 5%.

The 2015 City pension levy increased approximately $318 million over the 2014 Levy.*

Are my taxes as low as they could be?

Illinois statutes allow for several types of property tax exemptions for residential taxpayers. The most common exemptions include:

- Homeowner Exemption
- Senior Citizen Exemption
- Senior Freeze Exemption

Please check your tax bill to learn more and determine whether exemptions were applied. If you have questions about property tax exemptions, please contact the Cook County Assessor's Office at cookcountyassessor.com to learn more and determine if you are eligible for an exemption or Certificate of Error.

What else is new in 2015?

For the first time, the total of all taxes extended for all taxing districts in Cook County exceeds $13 billion. Last year the total tax billed in Cook County was $12.4 billion.

The City of Chicago's extension exceeds $1 billion for the first time. Last year the City's extension was $774 million.

Glossary of Tax Extension Terms

Assessed Value: The fair market value multiplied by the assessment level for a class of property.

Composite Tax Rate: The sum of the tax rates of all the taxing districts (municipality, school district, park district, etc.) which service an individual property.

Equalization Factor: A factor, established by the Illinois Department of Revenue, used to bring the aggregate value of assessments within Cook County to 33 1/3% of the estimated actual fair market value of all real property in Cook County. This factor, also called the "multiplier," is recalculated by the state each year.

Exemptions: For properties and taxpayers who meet certain criteria, all or a portion of qualifying property values may be excluded from taxation under Illinois law. For residential property, a portion of taxable value will be excluded, such as with the homeowner or senior exemptions, if the taxpayer meets statutory requirements.

Home Rule: The County of Cook and qualifying municipalities, including those who have elected to operate in this form, may function as home rule units of government. As home rule units, these entities are not subject to tax rate limitations of the Property Tax Extension Limitation Law (PTELL).

Tax Cap Law: The Property Tax Extension Limitation Law (PTELL) is a law which allows a taxing district to receive a limited inflationary increase in the property tax extension on existing property within that taxing district, plus an additional amount for new construction. It ensures that property tax revenue may only increase by the rate of inflation.

Tax Extension: "Tax Extension" refers to both the amount of property tax to be billed for a taxing district and for the process of calculating the tax rate required to obtain that amount when applied to all taxable value within the district.

Tax Levy: A taxing district's request for revenue to be obtained from the property tax.

Tax Rate: The tax levy, reduced by statutory limitations, divided by the total equalized assessed valuation of a taxing body. The tax rate is the rate per $100 of equalized assessed valuation (EAV) that must be paid for the tax year in question.

Taxable Value (EAV): The assessed valuation of each property multiplied by the equalization factor.

Four Largest Taxing Districts in Cook County Property Tax Revenue 2000 to 2015

How Is My Property Tax Bill Calculated?

1. The Tax Rate for each taxing district is calculated:

$$\frac{\text{Taxing District Tax Levy}}{\text{Taxable Value in Taxing District}} = \text{District Tax Rate}$$

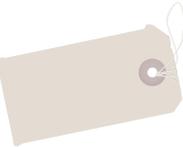

2. The Composite Tax Rate of all taxing districts in your area is calculated:

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{County Rate} \\ & + \text{Township Rate} \\ & + \text{Municipality Rate} \\ & + \text{Grade School Rate} \\ & + \text{High School Rate} \\ & + \text{Community College Rate} \\ & + \text{Park District Rate} \\ & + \text{Library Rate} \\ & + \text{Other District Rates} \\ & \hline & = \text{Composite Tax Rate} \end{aligned}$$

3. Your Individual Tax Bill is calculated:

$$\text{Individual Taxable Value} \times \text{Composite Tax Rate} = \text{Tax Bill Amount}$$

The property assessment process is the basis for generating property tax revenues that pay for a portion of schools, city and county services, roads, fire protection, public safety, water and sanitation, and other local services.

SAMPLE REAL ESTATE TAX BILL CALCULATION

The typical homeowner exemption for residential property is $7,000 (other exemptions may apply). This sample calculation is based on the average assessment increase across all residential property in the City of Chicago and average tax increases in the suburbs. Individual tax bills will vary based on reassessment values and individual tax rates.
